WELCOME TO HOTEL IL PELLICANO: A MAGIC LOCATION FOR UNFORGETTABLE EVENTS

Il Pellicano was a result of a love story between Michael Graham, a British Royal Air Force (RAF) aviator, the only survivor of a plane crash in Africa in the mid-1950s and Patsy Daszel, socialite of the American jet set, who cut out the article regarding the plane crash and pasted it in her diary hoping that someday she would meet the charming British soldier. Like a fairy tale, her wish came true.

Patsy and Michael met during a party in Pelican Point in California, and it was love at first sight. After travelling extensively around the world, the couple arrived in Tuscany, on the Monte Argentario peninsula, where they discovered this corner of heaven. In this stretch of cliffs overlooking the sea, in the midst of the magnificent nature of Monte Argentario, Michael and Patsy decided to build Hotel Il Pellicano, to honor their love affair. Inaugurated in 1965 the bay was reminiscent of the location of their first encounter and the perfect place in which to establish a private club. Having kept that home feeling throughout time, Il Pellicano has maintained that allure of Italian "dolce vita" feeling of the 1960s.

The perfect balance between past, present and future makes the "Pellicano experience" unique and the perfect location for a memorable event.
